[adlib - walking]

Susan : Do you want to come in?

Josh : Sure.

S : Sit down...[long pause]...wanna drink? [she brings wine]

J : You got soda?

S : What were you like when you were younger?

J : Oh well, I wasn't much different.

S : I believe that about you...I've been thinking about you a lot. It's crazy, in my car, lying in bed. I've just never gone out with someone like you. I mean with all the other men, there was so much to hide. I feel like I can tell you anything.

J : Susan? Susan. There's something I think I should tell you.

S : What?

[kiss, etc...]

[she turns light off, he turns it back on]

S : You want the light on?

[etc..]

S : Josh, what's wrong? What is it?

J : I haven't told you something because I didn't think that you were gonna believe me. And even if you did believe me, I didn't think that you were gonna like me anymore so.

S : Oh honey come here, you can tell me anything. What?

J : Susan, I'm not what you think I am.

S : What do you mean?

J : Before I met you, I was in little league. Um, I was in little league and I rode my bike to school and I played with my friends and hung out with 'em and--

S : Josh, Josh, what are you talking about?

J : I wanna go home. I miss my family, Susan and I wanna go home.

S : Oh my god you're married.

J : No. No.

S : I knew that this was too good to be true. I knew that there had to be something.

J : [OVERLAP] No, I'm not, I'm not married. Susan. I'm not married.

S : You're not?

J : No. I'm a child.

S : What?

J : I'm a child, Susan. And I, I'm not ready for all of this.

S : Oh that's fine. That is, that's just great.

J : Well, you see what happened...

S : No, I understand. I'm not ready to make a committment.

J : Oh no, no.

S : I'm not ready to accept the responsibility.

J : [OVERLAP] No, no. You don't understand, I mean I'm 13 years old.

S : Oh and who isn't. You think that there isn't a frightened kid inside of me too?

J : No, I mean, I really am 13. I, I went to bed. See, I went to bed one night and I was a kid and when I woke up the next morning I was a grown up.

S : Oh right. And just yesterday I was a school girl with pigtails. Why are you doing this Josh?

J : There was this carnival in New Jersey.

S : Please.

J : I made a wish on a machine. It was called the Zoltan machine.

S : Oh stop it.

J : It was called a Zoltan machine. It had this body and head and looked just like a devil and you got a quarter in the devil's mouth, you can make a wish and I did, so I made a wish to be big. That's what I'm trying to tell you is that I, I changed into a grown up but I'm really just a kid.

S : Fine Josh, you're a kid. Look, I really don't know what it is that you're trying to tell me, but we have a very big presentation to get through tomorrow so I'm gonna get some sleep.
