

CSI MIAMI

SCENE #26:

[INT. GRACE MEMORIAL HOSPITAL - ROOM -- DAY]

(Megan stands next to Scott Sommer's bed. She watches as Horatio puts his CSI kit down on the table.)

SCOTT ERIK SOMMER: Did, uh, Did anybody else, any of them, make it?

MEGAN DONNER: Just you. I'm sorry.

(Horatio and Det. Eddie Delacroix listen as Megan interviews Scott Sommer.)

SCOTT ERIK SOMMER: Well, we're going to take care of them. Their families, I mean. We take care of our own.

MEGAN DONNER: That's very commendable especially in light of your company's recent financial difficulties.

SCOTT ERIK SOMMER: I'm not sure I know what you mean.

MEGAN DONNER: We hear the SEC is very interested in how you take care of your own.

SCOTT ERIK SOMMER: Can I ask you where this is heading?

MEGAN DONNER: We'd like to get your fingerprints and a sample of your DNA, if that's all right with you.

SCOTT ERIK SOMMER: Wait a minute. Do I need to have a lawyer present?

HORATIO CAINE: Mr. Sommer we are merely trying to establish what happened on the plane from your point of view. That's all.

SCOTT ERIK SOMMER: I don't remember. I ... it's all just, uh ... it's fuzzy.

HORATIO CAINE: Well, maybe I can refresh your memory, then. What we do know is that your employee, Christina Colucci fell to her death sometime before the plane crashed and she fell out a door that had been opened from the inside. Does that ring a bell?

SCOTT ERIK SOMMER: No. I-I ... I didn't see anything. I was, I was in my seat.

HORATIO CAINE: Actually sir, you weren't in your seat and neither was Christina which is why there were no friction burns from your seat belts. So ... would you like to try again?

SCOTT ERIK SOMMER: I didn't want to say anything because I wanted to protect her. Christina was acting strangely that morning. She was very agitated and she had been drinking.

(Quick flashback to: [INT. PLANE - DAY] Christina puts some pills in her mouth and takes a drink from her glass.)

SCOTT ERIK SOMMER: Don't take that with alcohol.

(She unbuckles herself and stands up. Scott Sommer grabs her wrist. She struggles against him.)

CHRISTINA COLUCCI: Get off of me!

(She pushes him aside. Sommer unbuckles his safety belt and stands up just as Christina reaches for the door handle. She opens the door and is sucked out of the plane backward. She screams.)

(End of flashback. Resume to present.)

MEGAN DONNER: You're saying ... she committed suicide?

SCOTT ERIK SOMMER: I'm saying she jumped out the plane.

MEGAN DONNER: Why didn't you stop her?

SCOTT ERIK SOMMER: I tried to. There was just no time. When that door opened ... she was gone, just like that. I don't remember anything after that.

HOTARIO CAINE: There is something I wanted to ask you. When did you hear the gunshot?

SCOTT ERIK SOMMER: Gunshot? What gunshot?

HORATIO CAINE: No gunshot.

(Surprised, Horatio looks casually at Megan. She nods slightly.)

HORATIO CAINE: (covering) Um ... would it be okay if we took your prints now?

(Horatio walks over to his kit and unlatches it.)